Headline:
Largely dry with sunny spells. Snow showers in the east.

Today:
A frosty morning, then a largely dry day with sunny spells and patchy cloud. Further isolated snow showers remain possible, especially across eastern areas. Windy, but less so than Tuesday. Feeling cold. Maximum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Tonight:
A clear and dry night, allowing a widespread harsh frost and freezing fog to form. Cloud will build from the south before dawn. Very cold. Minimum temperature -4 deg C (25 deg F).

Thursday:
A frosty start with lingering fog in places. A dry but cloudy day following, with wintry showers across southwestern areas later on. Feeling cold with further frost likely overnight. Maximum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Largely dry but cold Friday. Milder, wet, and windy on Saturday and Sunday, as bands of rain and hill snow move eastwards across the country. Risk of coastal gales throughout.
